Do you have a message for Manitoba's pulse and soybean farmers?

— Spread the word in Pulse Beat! —

Pulse Beat is the official magazine of Manitoba Pulse & Soybean Growers (MPSG), a not-for-profit organization that represents farmers who grow pulse and soybean crops in Manitoba.

Featuring the latest advancements in research and production, market development and trends, MPSG-supported variety evaluations and other important issues, Pulse Beat is where Manitoba's pulse and soybean industry stays connected.

This season, two issues of Pulse Beat will be produced – starting with the fall/winter (December) edition, followed by the spring issue in March. Pulse Beat reaches at least 4,000 of the industry's key decision-makers.

ABOUT OUR EDITORIAL

Each issue includes time-sensitive news reports from organization partners, reports pertaining to ongoing MPSG business operation, promotion and committee representation, special event announcements, current market trends, topics affecting crop production, technology and research.

In addition to time-sensitive reports, as it's happening news is also featured. We want to be sure our readers receive the most up-to-date information!

The fall/winter issue – focuses on research and includes the season's Pulse and Soybean Variety Guide, which assists growers with their decision-making for the next growing season.

The spring issue – continues with a focus on research and often includes industry opinion generated by discussions and observations from the January/February trade shows and annual meeting time frame.
